

Tom Letourneau

Associate

tletourneau@verrill-law.com

Tom understands the human component of wealth transfer and estate planning and works with clients to structure their giving to accommodate their needs.

Tom values a team approach and works collaboratively with colleagues and advisors to best serve his clients. Whether its tax-efficiency, charitable giving, or ensuring the camp stays in the family, Tom uses his research and drafting skills to find creative solutions for clients.

Before going to law school, Tom taught kindergarten for seven years and K-2 science for one year. He is originally from Dayton, Maine, where his entire family still resides. When he is not visiting them, he spends his time running, reading books and watching movies, hiking, and working on his creative writing.

He currently lives in Portland with twenty plants and room in his heart for more.

Education

- University of Maine School of Law (J.D.)
 - 2024 Morgan Taylor Spirit of Service Award
 - CALI Award in Elder Law
 - Business and Transactional Certificate, with honors
 - Research Editor, Ocean and Coastal Law Journal
 - Co-Chair, Energy and Environmental Law Society (EELS)
 - Published work: Respect My Authority: The Past, Present, and Future of Public Authorities
- Colby College
 - NESCAC All-Sportsmanship Award for Cross Country
 - Founder's Award for Excellence in Major (Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies)

Public Service

- Teach for America, 2013 Corps Member (Mississippi Delta: Arkansas)
- Volunteer coach for local high school cross country and track teams

Services/Industries

- Private Clients & Fiduciary Services

Bar Admissions

- Maine

Memberships

- Maine State Bar Association
- Maine Estate Planning Council